From the Exalted Ruler

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I hope this finds you healthy and well.

As I do each month, I look at my letter to you from the least year at this time. It was a much different time in 2019 with lots of celebratory Lodge news as we started the new Elks year. While we may not be able to celebrate the new Elks year together, there is still so much to be thankful for.

We're thankful for our new Officers that were installed. We have a terrific group this year. We're also thankful that we have started the much-anticipated renovations. With hope and safety, we may be seeing each other soon in our temporary social quarters.

On April 27th the Trustees met to discuss a number of items. Joining the Trustees for their meeting was the Renovation Committee and House Committee Chair. After the Renovation Committee did a thorough update on the progress, the Trustees had a lengthy discussion on the year's budget. The budget process took a bit longer this year as it was the first-year reporting with the new financial system put in place by the Grand Lodge, and taking into account that we could be closed for several months. The Trustees approved the budget and it will be presented at the May 4th regular meeting via video conference with the Trustees, Officers, and Committee Chairs for a vote.

I know how important it is for all of our members to be included in voting on any matters concerning our Lodge, especially the budget. However, under the current circumstances, I truly believe that our members will understand and trust that your elected Trustees and Officers have all the members' best interests in hand as they make decisions to keep our Lodge moving forward. If you have questions about the budget or any other matters regarding our Lodge, I encourage you to reach out to any of the Trustees or Officers.

Last Saturday, I took a drive out to Youth Camp to have a look at our cabin. It was a cool day and a pretty drive. The camp was cleaned up and looked like it was ready to see children running around and enjoying what, for some, would be their first camping experience. New basketball goals were prepped for installation and the only sounds were the wind and the birds. The Virginia Elks Camp is truly a gem for all of us. If you are looking for a nice drive during these trying times, I would encourage you to visit the camp.

From the Exalted Ruler continued...

Stay safe and hopefully, sooner than later, we will all be together listening and enjoying Edgar's jokes, Robbie and Dave going after each other, whatever is in Diana's crockpot on Tuesdays, Eric's latest deal, Matt not falling off his barstool, Leslie's laugh, the mayors telling us how it is, the philosophy according to Butch, Ray Ray in the kitchen, Keith coming off an all-night drive, Nancy's sweetness and buying the bar a round when she hits, Travis's wicked smart brain, Zach being tired but having one more, Lissa and Tina cashing in tickets, Dan at the corner of the bar ("that's right"), Mr. Knopp quietly in the corner, Brett leaving his glasses anywhere he wants, Jimmy's golf stories, Ryan looking out for Pete like he is the dad not the son, Dove eating anything put in front of him, Barbara's banana pudding, Clint always throwing his beer can away, Todd telling us how many steps he did that day, the John and Wayne show, the same stories recited over and over, and most of all, the brotherhood and sisterhood we all share. We are most fortunate to have each other as friends and family.

Be safe and see you soon!

Fraternally yours,

Justin
